My name is Neil Cott, I was born at Goomalling Hospital in 1973 and I am the third generation in my family to call Dowerin home. I attended Dowerin District High School in my youth and now my daughter also attends the same school. I was an active member in many sporting groups during my childhood and into my adult years, especially the Dowerin Tigers football club as both a player and coach.

I have held many different job roles over the years which have contributed to the sustainability of Dowerin Shire and I currently operate the Dowerin seed cleaners, I also along with my wife own and operate Dingoes Diner on the main street.

As a long term resident I have watched the Shire of Dowerin change and diversify. I have seen growth in some areas and how the town falters in others. These observations have led me to want to take a role in preserving our town, not only for us but for generations to come.
